

STATE UNIVERSITY.—The Carson Free Lance says:

A few days ago we visited the State University at Reno. There were present about 35 pupils. Everything seems to be moving on pleasantly under the management of Professors Willis and McCammon. A great many new books have been obtained for the library, as well as material for the laboratory. It is believed that there will be a much larger attendance of pupils at the beginning of the school year than now. The school year begins September 1st, and already there have been several applications filed for admission into the classes of next year.

Manning still adheres to the policy of keeping a cash balance of nearly five hundred millions in the Treasury, although he has the option of calling in over $150,000,000 3 per cents. It is quite evident that the Secretary of the Treasury thinks that it is wiser to please the national banks than the people. He will probably entertain a different opinion in 1888.—S. F. Chronicle.

DEMOCRATIC RESOLUTIONS.

The resolutions passed by the Democratic State Central Committee are of the most humorous character, and deserve a place in the National platform of that humorous and inconsistent political party. The President and his Civil Service policy is approved, and in the next breath the removal of the few Federal officers in the State is demanded. The endorsement of the Civil Service is as huge a joke as is the demand for the reasons why the remaining Federal officers were not bounced fifteen months ago. And then the cry goes up for the worthy Chairman who has been waving the banner of his party for the past twenty years to be given an opportunity to wave it for the next twenty years, the inference being that unless he soon receives some first-class office the banner will soon have to trail in the dust. Instead of bothering about such little things the Committee should have gone on the record in favor of the President and Cabinet ceasing the onslaught on silver; should have rapped Morrison and his crowd over the knuckles for trying to kill the sheep industry of the State by placing wool on the free list; respectfully admonished Manning that it was "deemed advisable" to reopen the Carson Mint, so unwarrantably closed; reminded Vilas that the outrages committed by the Post-office Department would never be forgotten or forgiven by the Democratic party of Nevada; the climax to these might well have been a resolution declaring that Nevada had some rights which the Democratic Administration was bound to respect, and that the cessation of the public surveys was absolutely unjust and uncalled for and a blow at the State unworthy of a great country. If resolutions of this character could have been passed, and heeded, the Democrats of Nevada would have deserved well of the people.

THE PAYNE CASE.

The day is approaching when oil monopolies and railroad companies, and those who rely upon mere twenty-dollar pieces, will not be permitted to arbitrarily select representatives to the Senate of the United States. The Tribune's Washington correspondent says that the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections has secured important evidence in the Payne case, and an investigation will be had. The main points of the evidence are: First—That when the Legislature was about to assemble Col. Oliver H. Payne and Mr. Thompson of the Standard Oil Company and John Huntington went to Columbus with $100,000, which was used in the Senatorial canvass for corrupt purposes. Second—That ex-Congressman David R. Paige carried to Columbus $65,000 in currency, which was used for the same purpose. Third—That John R. McLean of Cincinnati contributed $100,000 to the Senatorial campaign in Columbus. Fourth—That a prominent and well-known Democratic office-holder was offered, first, an office, second, $1,000; third, $2,000; and fourth, any sum he might name, on condition that the legislators would vote for Payne in the Senatorial caucus. Fifth—That a member of the Legislature, whose vote had been solicited and obtained by Payne's Cincinnati supporters for a consideration, claimed $5,000 for his reward—a sum larger than they were willing to pay—and that a bitter controversy was the result. It is understood that Little and Butterworth assured the committee that reputable witnesses will be forthcoming to sustain the foregoing charges.

Beck has an article in the Gazette on land matters, and therein displays his ignorance, as he usually does on all subjects he speaks or writes about. He ought to have learned by this time to keep still. The people are tired of him. Even the Gazette, which publishes his silly twaddle, feels compelled in its editorial columns to show him up as a flour man who is foolishly talking about land. Beck should tell the farmers of Washoe how to raise wheat for his benefit and not bother about land.

NOT IDENTICAL.

We publish to-day a communication criticising applicants for public lands in Nevada, in which the writer makes a mistake that seems to be very general. He refers to the correspondence between the Surveyor General and the answers from the General Land Office, accusing land buyers of perjury in getting title. Mr. Beck, like Mr. Sparks, does not seem to see any harm in getting the land, but they object to the perjury. The fact is no one at all is taking up lands under the pre-emption or homestead laws, but under the laws of Nevada, which do not require residence on the land applied for, and which permit the assignment of applications. The cases are not identical at all with applications made to the general government.—Gazette.

Slightly Inconsistent.
A series of resolutions were passed by the Democratic State Central Committee when in session here a few days ago, that make interesting reading. They declare themselves in favor of civil service reform, "in accordance with the views of the President of the United States," and in the same breath ask the removal of all the Republican office-holders within this State, because "that continuance in power is not only demoralizing to the Democratic party," but, they say, a menace to the public good.

They further say: "We recommend that such officers be speedily removed, to the end that the machinery of the Government may not again be prostituted for the purpose of perpetuating the dynasty of the Republican party," and close their resolves by a well-merited tribute of partisan fidelity to General Hagerman, whom they say: "For the past twenty years, as a resident of this State, has been in the front ranks carrying the Democratic banner, and yielding his time and money—a willing offering to the cause."

A copy of these resolutions were sent to the President and Senator Fair, the latter of whom, will, soon be in San Francisco. It might have been wise for them to have gone on and resolved that General Powning forwith discharge R. A. McCormick, George Ernst, A. D. Rock, L. F. Winkle, T. K. Stewart and T. J. Read, his Democratic deputies.—Gazette.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE.
The July number of Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine opens with an article by the Rev. Frederick Pember, on "The Charterhouse in London; Its Hospital and Public Schools," with a number of quaint and curious illustrations, including a portrait of Sir Thomas Sutton, the founder. Five more beautiful illustrations of Luray Cave, in Page Co., Va., are given with descriptions. Mr. Thos. Powell contributes a musical reminiscence of Carl Maria Von Weber in London; and Mrs. Angeline E. Alexander makes a "Plea for Girls" in her usual forcible and pleasant manner. The author of "Dilettante Days" takes her readers through Cologne, up the Rhine, and lands them in Mainz. The Rev. Geo. W. Nichols begins a new series of "Letters from Waldegrave Cottage," dealing with some reminiscences of the late Civil War in No. 1. Dr. Talmage's sermon is on the "Newspaper Press as an Ally of the Pulpit," and in the Editorial Department he discusses several topics of timely interest. The serial stories—"The Gems She Wore," by L. T. Meade; "Paulina," by the Rev. A. C. Haverstick; and "The Tapestry Room" by Mrs. Molesworth—are continued, and there are many short sketches and poems and a number of full-page beautiful engravings. This number is the first of the twentieth volume, and this is a good time to subscribe for the magazine.

The News Reporter (Democratic) endorses one of our State officials as follows: We, in common with a great many people in this State, believe that Controller Hallock is an excellent officer; that he is the best Controller the State ever had. One of the qualities which makes him such is an abundance of good "horse sense," a quality which some people do not possess.

The rumor is once more revived that Senator Stanford will soon resign from the Senate to devote himself to his University affairs. Sensible man.

Ben. Butler bobs up serenely.

Recitative—Attendant of Sylph Queen.....
"The Star is Yet in the Vault of Heaven."
Aria—Queen of the Sylphs.....
"As Swift as the Glimmer."
Full Chorus.....
"Ouphe and Goblin, Imp and Sprite."

Synopsis.—At the Fairy revelry, a Fay is accused of kissing a mortal maiden, and thus breaking his vestal vow. On account of the maiden's purity, his sentence is mitigated. The Queen commands him in expiation, first, to catch a drop of water from beneath the arch of the sturgeon as it leaps from the river; second, to relight his fairy lamp by a spark from a shooting star. Opposed by the Water Sprites, but aided by the Nymphs, he succeeds in the first quest. The second is more perilous. He is tempted by the Sylpha to abandon it, and dwell with them. Refusing to do this, he, by their charms, escapes the dangerous elements, catches the falling spark, and is restored to Fairy favor.

UNIVERSITY EXAMINATION.—The Spring term of the University will close Friday. Examinations began yesterday, and will continue throughout the week, at which all friends of the University and higher education are cordially invited to be present. Yesterday's programme was as follows:

Morning session—Junior Preparatory, in arithmetic—Professor Willis; Senior Preparatory, in Greek—Professor McCammon.
Afternoon session—Junior Preparatory, in physical geography—Professor McCammon; Junior Preparatory, in chemistry—Professor Willis.
The order for to-day and to-morrow is as follows:
Wednesday, June 23, morning session—Senior Preparatory, in Latin—Professor McCammon; Junior Preparatory, in natural philosophy—McCammon.
Thursday, June 24, morning session—Senior Preparatory, in geometry—Professor Willis; Junior Preparatory, in grammar—Professor McCammon.
Afternoon session—Junior Preparatory, in history—Professor Willis.

FINDING IR.—The Enterprise says:

"It would seem that Jim Rule is approaching the true merits of the ore stope he has been after for the last few months in the upper workings of the Gould & Curry. As stated in our weekly mining summary of yesterday, he is running two crosscuts, east and west, from the incline upraise, fifty feet above the 500 level. Both were in very promising vein matter, with quartz giving low assays. Yesterday a decided improvement was shown in the west crosscut, the face being in quartz which gave assays as high as $80 per ton. He knew of an old stope worked many years ago near the north line of the Savage which paid well, but caved in, and it was not thought advisable to go to the heavy expense of reopening it. Rule believed it extended into the Gould & Curry, and the best way to get at it would be through the old 600 level. The company approved his idea and started him in on the proposition. If, as now seems probable, the proposition is correct, there is plenty of room for a genuine bonanza at that point, and the Savage Company may perhaps have a good slice of it yet. Perhaps that's what's the matter with the stock."

Whenever Beck opens his mouth he puts his foot in it. He is one of the most remarkable ignoramuses of the period, and should be exhibited at the various Fairs. What he don't know would make a very large book. He will have to be confined in a straight jacket pretty soon if he does not attend to his own business, and the JOURNAL thinks even the flour mill would manufacture just as good an article as it now does if Beck was not there. Beck should drop on himself.

SPROULE DISCHARGED.—The Dominion Supreme Court of British Columbia has decided that Sproule, convicted of the murder of Humill, was irregularly tried, and orders his discharge. It is understood that an appeal will be taken to London.

REDUCTION WORKS.—Messrs. Howell and Carey have returned to Reno and say that they will at once incorporate and commence the erection of works for the reduction of all classes of ores.

T. W. Richards, representative of the Philadelphia company that contemplates reduction works in Reno, arrived from the Quaker City last night.
